

Hobby mates are waiting!

How to use the app.

Once the download is complete (from Google Play or the App Store), the application will open automatically. Now the exciting part begins! Press the "Create User" button. Select a profile picture that reflects your inner self. The application will ask you for a few details, such as your email address and password.

Select the hobby or hobbies you practice. You can also select hobbies you want to try or start. Finalize your profile by adding a description of yourself.

Finally, review and accept the privacy policy. Press REGISTER USER. Congratulations and welcome! Your profile is now created in the Livertti application. Your profile is only visible where you announce it. Have fun with your hobbies!

How to find announcements.

There are BLUE markers on the map; these are hobby locations. When the marker is ORANGE, a hobbyist or hobbyists are going to that location. Click the ORANGE marker open. This will show you the profile or profiles of the people who are going to that location to practice their hobby. Click the profile name to open the profile.

At the bottom of the profile page there is an envelope icon, which you can click to open it. This allows you to send a private message. Write a message that makes the recipient laugh, smile, or at least get interested. Tell them why this specific announcement caught your eye and what you might have in common. And don't be afraid to be yourself - humor and personality are always a plus!

Can't find an announcement you like? No worries, make your own announcement! Click the place where you are going or would like to go. In the location window, you will find a + sign, which allows you to create your own announcement. Select the day and time. Write in the text field what you are looking for. Activate the announcement with the green approve button. Your announcement will immediately become visible to others as an ORANGE marker. You yourself can see your announcement by clicking the location where you made the announcement. Your profile and announcement are only visible where you make the announcement. Delete the announcement with the red button if your plans change.

Filter: Find exactly your thing! With the filter, you can limit the map to only the hobbies that genuinely interest you. No more unnecessary browsing! Calendar: Travel in time! With the calendar, you can plan for the future or recall the past. You can view past announcements and upcoming events. They will appear on the map as an ORANGE marker on the selected date.

In the Settings menu, you can update your information and hobbies. Did you find a new passion? Add this new hobby to your profile or change your profile picture. You can easily edit your information and keep your profile up to date.

The secret of the Livertti map. Find new hobbies and services. Open the door to the world of hobbies! Find the treasures. The blue markers on the map show nearby hobby locations. Examine the place. By clicking the marker, you see the name of the place. Move forward. When you click the name, you can go directly to the place's own pages via the link on the green background. It's a quick and easy route to new adventures, services, and perhaps new friends. Have a fun exploratory trip! Be an active user of Livertti! If you notice that the green link does not lead to the service provider's pages, feel free to contact the place's administrator. Perhaps they don't have their own link in Livertti yet!
